Note: A carbon unit is an example of a registered emissions unit. You can become the holder of a carbon unit as a result of the unit being issued to you under the Clean Energy Act 2011 or as a result of your acquisition of the unit from another entity.

Timing

- (2) You deduct the expenditure in the income year in which you start to *hold the *registered emissions unit.

Free carbon units

- (3) You cannot deduct under this section expenditure you incur in becoming the *holder of a *carbon unit issued to you in accordance with:
 - (a) the Jobs and Competitiveness Program (within the meaning of the Clean Energy Act 2011); or
 - (b) Part 8 (coal-fired electricity generation) of that Act.

Australian carbon credit units

- (4) You cannot deduct under this section expenditure you incur in becoming the *holder of an *Australian carbon credit unit issued to you in accordance with the Carbon Credits (Carbon Farming Initiative) Act 2011 unless you incur the expenditure in preparing or lodging:

Schedule 2 Taxation amendments

Part 2 Amendments commencing at the same time as section 3 of the Clean Energy Act 2011 commences

- (a) an application for a certificate of entitlement (within the meaning of that Act); or
- (b) an offsets report (within the meaning of that Act).

No deduction if sale proceeds would not be assessable

- (5) You cannot deduct under this section expenditure you incur in becoming the *holder of a *registered emissions unit if, assuming that you had sold the unit to someone else immediately after you started to *hold the unit, the proceeds of the sale would not have been included in your assessable income under section 420-25.

Note: Under the International Tax Agreements Act 1953, for some foreign residents, the proceeds of the sale of a registered emissions unit are not assessable income in Australia.

420-20 Non-arm's length transactions and transactions with associates

- (1) If:
 - (a) an entity becomes the *holder of a *registered emissions unit; and
 - (b) either:
 - (i) the entity and the previous holder of the unit did not deal with each other at arm's length; or
 - (ii) the previous holder is the entity's *associate; and
 - (c) the entity did not pay or give consideration equal to the *market value of the unit for becoming the holder of the unit;the entity is treated as if:
 - (d) the entity had incurred expenditure in becoming the holder of the unit; and
 - (e) the amount of the expenditure were equal to that market value.
 - (2) This section does not apply if a *registered emissions unit *held by an individual just before the individual's death:
 - (a) devolves to the individual's *legal personal representative; or
 - (b) *passes to a beneficiary in the individual's estate.
 - (3) This section does not apply to:
 - (a) the issue of a *carbon unit under the Clean Energy Act 2011;or

(b) the issue of an *Australian carbon credit unit under the Carbon Credits (Carbon Farming Initiative) Act 2011.

Note: In the application of Division 13 of Part III of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1936 (about international transfer-pricing arrangements), this section is disregarded—see subsection 136AB(2) of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1936.

420-21 Incoming international transfers of emissions units

Unit held as trading stock or as a revenue asset

(1) If:

(a) any of the following conditions is satisfied:

- (i) a *carbon unit is transferred from your foreign account (within the meaning of the Clean Energy Act 2011) to your Registry account (within the meaning of the Australian National Registry of Emissions Units Act 2011) or your nominee's Registry account (within the meaning of the Australian National Registry of Emissions Units Act 2011);
- (ii) a carbon unit is transferred from your nominee's foreign account (within the meaning of the Clean Energy Act 2011) to your Registry account (within the meaning of the Australian National Registry of Emissions Units Act 2011) or your nominee's Registry account (within the meaning of the Australian National Registry of Emissions Units Act 2011);
- (iii) an *international emissions unit is transferred from your foreign account (within the meaning of the Australian National Registry of Emissions Units Act 2011) to your Registry account (within the meaning of that Act) or your nominee's Registry account (within the meaning of that Act);
- (iv) an international emissions unit is transferred from your nominee's foreign account (within the meaning of the Australian National Registry of Emissions Units Act 2011) to your Registry account (within the meaning of that Act) or your nominee's Registry account (within the meaning of that Act);
- (v) an *Australian carbon credit unit is transferred from your foreign account (within the meaning of the Carbon Credits (Carbon Farming Initiative) Act 2011) to your Registry account (within the meaning of the Australian National Registry of Emissions Units Act 2011) or your nominee's Registry account (within the meaning of the Australian National Registry of Emissions Units Act 2011);

(vi) an Australian carbon credit unit is transferred from your nominee's foreign account (within the meaning of the Carbon Credits (Carbon Farming Initiative) Act 2011) to your Registry account (within the meaning of the Australian National Registry of Emissions Units Act 2011) or your nominee's Registry account (within the meaning of the Australian National Registry of Emissions Units Act 2011); and

(b) as a result of the transfer, you start to *hold the unit as a *registered emissions unit; and

(c) just before the transfer, the unit was your *trading stock or *revenue asset;

you are treated as if:

(d) just before the transfer, you had sold the unit to someone else for its *cost; and

(e) you had, immediately after the sale, bought it back as a registered emissions unit for the same amount.

Example: An Australian resident company carries on a business of trading in emissions units. The units are trading stock. The company owns 10,000 emission reduction units (a type of international emissions unit) that are registered in New Zealand. 5,000 of those emission reduction units are transferred from the company's New Zealand registry account to the company's Australian registry account.

The company is treated as having sold each unit to someone else at its cost just before it became a registered emissions unit. As the unit was previously held as trading stock, the unit ceases to be trading stock (section 70-12). The cost of the unit just before it became a registered emissions unit is included in the company's assessable income.

The company is also treated as having bought 5,000 registered emissions units for the same amount. The company is entitled to a deduction for that amount (section 420-15).

Unit held otherwise than as trading stock or as a revenue asset

(2) If:

(a) any of the following conditions is satisfied:

- (i) a *carbon unit is transferred from your foreign account (within the meaning of the Clean Energy Act 2011) to your Registry account (within the meaning of the Australian National Registry of Emissions Units Act 2011) or your nominee's Registry account (within the meaning of the Australian National Registry of Emissions Units Act 2011);
 - (ii) a carbon unit is transferred from your nominee's foreign account (within the meaning of the Clean Energy Act 2011) to your Registry account (within the meaning of the Australian National Registry of Emissions Units Act 2011) or your nominee's Registry account (within the meaning of the Australian National Registry of Emissions Units Act 2011);
 - (iii) an *international emissions unit is transferred from your foreign account (within the meaning of the Australian National Registry of Emissions Units Act 2011) to your Registry account (within the meaning of that Act) or your nominee's Registry account (within the meaning of that Act);
 - (iv) an international emissions unit is transferred from your nominee's foreign account (within the meaning of the Australian National Registry of Emissions Units Act 2011) to your Registry account (within the meaning of that Act) or your nominee's Registry account (within the meaning of that Act);
 - (v) an *Australian carbon credit unit is transferred from your foreign account (within the meaning of the Carbon Credits (Carbon Farming Initiative) Act 2011) to your Registry account (within the meaning of the Australian National Registry of Emissions Units Act 2011) or your nominee's Registry account (within the meaning of the Australian National Registry of Emissions Units Act 2011);
 - (vi) an Australian carbon credit unit is transferred from your nominee's foreign account (within the meaning of the Carbon Credits (Carbon Farming Initiative) Act 2011) to your Registry account (within the meaning of the Australian National Registry of Emissions Units Act 2011) or your nominee's Registry account (within the meaning of the Australian National Registry of Emissions Units Act 2011); and

- (b) as a result of the transfer, you start to *hold the unit as a *registered emissions unit; and
- (c) just before the transfer, the unit was neither your *trading stock nor your *revenue asset;

you are treated as if:

- (d) just before the transfer, you had sold the unit to someone else for its *market value just before the transfer; and
- (e) you had, immediately after the sale, bought it back as a registered emissions unit for the same amount.

420-22 Becoming taxable in Australia on the proceeds of sale of registered emissions units

If:

- (a) you start to *hold a *registered emissions unit at a particular time; and
- (b) assuming that you had sold the unit to someone else immediately after you started to hold the unit, the proceeds of the sale would not have been included in your assessable income under section 420-25; and
- (c) you hold the unit until a later time (the taxable status commencement time), where the following conditions are satisfied:
 - (i) assuming that you had sold the unit to someone else immediately before the taxable status commencement time, the proceeds of the sale would not have been included in your assessable income under section 420-25;
 - (ii) assuming that you had sold the unit to someone else at the taxable status commencement time, the proceeds of the sale would have been included in your assessable income under section 420-25;

you are treated as if:

- (d) immediately after the taxable status commencement time, you had bought the unit from someone else for its *market value; and

- (e) you had started to hold the unit immediately after the taxable status commencement time instead of at the time mentioned in paragraph (a).

Note: Under the International Tax Agreements Act 1953, for some foreign residents, the proceeds of the sale of a registered emissions unit are not assessable income in Australia.

Subdivision 420-C—Disposing of registered emissions units etc.

|--------|---|
| 420-25 | Assessable income on disposal of registered emissions units |
| 420-30 | Non-arm's length transactions and transactions with associates |
| 420-35 | Outgoing international transfers of emissions units |
| 420-40 | Disposal of registered emissions units for a purpose other than gaining assessable income |
| 420-41 | Ceasing to be taxable in Australia on the proceeds of sale of registered emissions units |
| 420-42 | Deduction for expenses incurred in ceasing to hold a registered emissions unit |
| 420-43 | Deduction for charge imposed on the surrender of an eligible international emissions unit |

420-25 Assessable income on disposal of registered emissions units

- (1) Your assessable income includes an amount that you are entitled to receive because you cease to *hold a *registered emissions unit.

Timing

- (2) The amount is included in your assessable income for the income year in which you cease to *hold the unit.

Source

- (3) An amount included in your assessable income under subsection (1) is taken, for the purposes of the *income tax laws, to have a source in Australia.

420-30 Non-arm's length transactions and transactions with associates

If:

- (a) an entity (the transferor) ceases to *hold a *registered emissions unit; and
- (b) the cessation is because of the transfer of the unit to:
 - (i) a Registry account (within the meaning of the Australian National Registry of Emissions Units Act 2011); or
 - (ii) a foreign account (within the meaning of that Act); kept by another entity (the transferee); and
- (c) either:
 - (i) the transferor and the transferee did not deal with each other at arm's length; or
 - (ii) the transferee is the transferor's *associate; and
- (d) the transferee did not pay or give consideration equal to the *market value of the unit for the transfer of the unit;

the transferor is treated as if the transferor were entitled to receive an amount equal to that market value because the transferor ceased to be the holder of the unit.

Note: In the application of Division 13 of Part III of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1936 (about international transfer-pricing arrangements), this section is disregarded—see subsection 136AB(2) of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1936.

420-35 Outgoing international transfers of emissions units

If:

- (a) you stop *holding a *registered emissions unit; and
- (b) you do so as a result of the transfer of the unit to:
 - (i) if the unit is a *carbon unit—your foreign account (within the meaning of the Clean Energy Act 2011) or your nominee's foreign account (within the meaning of that Act); or
 - (ii) if the unit is an *international emissions unit—your foreign account (within the meaning of the Australian National Registry of Emissions Units Act 2011) or your nominee's foreign account (within the meaning of that Act); or

- (iii) if the unit is an *Australian carbon credit unit—your foreign account (within the meaning of the Carbon Credits (Carbon Farming Initiative) Act 2011) or your nominee’s foreign account (within the meaning of that Act);

you are treated as if:

- (c) just before the transfer, you had sold the unit to someone else for its *market value just before the transfer; and
- (d) you had, immediately after the sale, bought it back for the same amount.

Example: An Australian resident company carries on a business of trading in emission units. The company owns 10,000 emission reduction units (a type of international emissions unit) that are registered in Australia. 5,000 of those units are transferred from the company’s Australian registry account to the company’s New Zealand registry account.

The company is treated as having sold each unit to someone else at its market value just before it stopped being a registered emissions unit. As the unit was a registered emissions unit, the market value is included in the company’s assessable income (section 420-25).

The company is also treated as having bought 5,000 emission reduction units for the same amount. As those units are trading stock, the company may be able to deduct that amount under section 8-1.

420-40 Disposal of registered emissions units for a purpose other than gaining assessable income

- (1) If:
 - (a) an entity (the first entity) incurs expenditure in:
 - (i) becoming the *holder of a *registered emissions unit; or
 - (ii) ceasing to hold a registered emissions unit; and
 - (b) the first entity has deducted or can deduct the expenditure under section 420-15 or 420-42; and
 - (c) the first entity ceases to hold the unit in a particular income year; and
 - (d) the cessation is neither:
 - (i) in gaining or producing the first entity’s assessable income; nor
 - (ii) in carrying on a *business for the purpose of gaining or producing the first entity’s assessable income; and

Schedule 2 Taxation amendments

Part 2 Amendments commencing at the same time as section 3 of the Clean Energy Act 2011 commences

- (e) section 420-30 (non-arm's length transactions and transactions with associates) did not apply to the first entity ceasing to hold the unit;

the first entity's assessable income for that income year includes an amount equal to the amount the first entity has deducted or can deduct.

Death

(2) If:

- (a) the first entity is an individual; and
- (b) the cessation is because of the first entity's death; and
- (c) the *registered emissions unit devolves to the first entity's *legal personal representative;

then:

- (d) the first entity's legal personal representative is treated as having bought the unit for the amount included in the first entity's assessable income under subsection (1); and
- (e) if the unit *passes to a beneficiary in the first entity's estate:
 - (i) the first entity's legal personal representative is treated as having disposed of the unit for the amount included in the first entity's assessable income under subsection (1); and
 - (ii) the beneficiary is treated as having bought the unit for the amount included in the first entity's assessable income under subsection (1).

(3) If:

- (a) the first entity is an individual; and
- (b) the cessation is because of the first entity's death; and
- (c) the *registered emissions unit *passes to a beneficiary in the first entity's estate without devolving to the first entity's *legal personal representative; the beneficiary is treated as having bought the unit for the amount included in the first entity's assessable income under subsection (1).

Transfer—treatment of acquirer

(4) If:

- (a) the cessation is because of the transfer of the unit to another entity; and
 - (b) neither subsection (2) nor (3) applies;
- the other entity is treated as having bought the unit for the amount included in the first entity's assessable income under subsection (1).
- (5) If subsection (4) applies to the transfer of the unit to another entity:
- (a) the first entity must inform the other entity that, as a result of subsection (4) applying, the other entity is treated as having bought the unit for a particular amount; and
 - (b) the first entity must do so:
 - (i) at, or as soon as practicable after, the time of the transfer; or
 - (ii) by a later time allowed by the Commissioner.

Source

- (6) An amount included in the first entity's assessable income under subsection (1) is taken, for the purposes of the *income tax laws, to have a source in Australia.

420-41 Ceasing to be taxable in Australia on the proceeds of sale of registered emissions units

If:

- (a) you start to *hold a *registered emissions unit; and
- (b) assuming that you had sold the unit to someone else immediately after you started to hold the unit, the proceeds of sale would have been included in your assessable income under section 420-25; and
- (c) you hold the unit until a later time (the taxable status cessation time), where the following conditions are satisfied:
 - (i) assuming that you had sold the unit to someone else immediately before the taxable status cessation time, the proceeds of the sale would have been included in your assessable income under section 420-25;
 - (ii) assuming that you had sold the unit to someone else at the taxable status cessation time, the proceeds of sale would not have been included in your assessable income under section 420-25;

Schedule 2 Taxation amendments

Part 2 Amendments commencing at the same time as section 3 of the Clean Energy Act 2011 commences

you are treated as if:

- (d) just before the taxable status cessation time, you had sold the unit to someone else for its *market value; and
- (e) you had, at the taxable status cessation time, bought it back for the same amount.

Note: Under the International Tax Agreements Act 1953, for some foreign residents, the proceeds of the sale of a registered emissions unit are not assessable income in Australia.

420-42 Deduction for expenses incurred in ceasing to hold a registered emissions unit

- (1) You can deduct expenditure to the extent that you incur it in ceasing to *hold a *registered emissions unit.

Timing

- (2) You deduct the expenditure in the income year in which you cease to *hold the *registered emissions unit.

420-43 Deduction for charge imposed on the surrender of an eligible international emissions unit

- (1) You can deduct an amount of charge imposed by the Clean Energy (International Unit Surrender Charge) Act 2011 on the surrender by you of an eligible international emissions unit (within the meaning of the Australian National Registry of Emissions Units Act 2011).

Timing

- (2) You deduct the amount in the income year in which you pay the amount.

Subdivision 420-D—Accounting for registered emissions units you hold at the start or end of the income year

Table of sections

| 420-60 | Cost of registered emissions units |

420-45 You include the value of your registered emissions units in working out your assessable income and deductions

- (1) You compare:
- (a) the *value of all *registered emissions units you *held at the start of the income year; and
 - (b) the value of all registered emissions units you held at the end of the income year.

Increase in value is included in assessable income

- (2) Your assessable income includes any excess of the *value at the end of the income year over the value at the start of the income year.

Decrease in value is a deduction

- (3) On the other hand, you can deduct any excess of the *value at the start of the income year over the value at the end of the income year.

Source

- (4) An amount included in your assessable income under subsection (2) is taken, for the purposes of the *income tax laws, to have a source in Australia.

Disregard value of unit if sale proceeds would not be assessable

- (5) For the purposes of this Subdivision, disregard the *value of a *registered emissions unit you *held at the end of the income year if, assuming that you had sold the unit to someone else immediately after you started to hold the unit, the proceeds of the

Schedule 2 Taxation amendments

Part 2 Amendments commencing at the same time as section 3 of the Clean Energy Act 2011 commences sale would not have been included in your assessable income under section 420-25.

Note: Under the International Tax Agreements Act 1953, for some foreign residents, the proceeds of the sale of a registered emissions unit are not assessable income in Australia.

420-50 Value of registered emissions units at start of income year

- (1) The value of a *registered emissions unit you *held at the start of an income year is the same amount at which it was taken into account under this Subdivision at the end of the last income year.
- (2) The value of the unit is a nil amount if the unit was not taken into account under this Subdivision at the end of the last income year.

420-51 Valuation methods

- (1) The value of a *registered emissions unit you *held at the end of an income year is worked out using one of the following methods:
 - (a) the *FIFO cost method;
 - (b) the *actual cost method;
 - (c) the *market value method.Sections 420-55 and 420-57 tell you which method applies.
- (2) This section has effect subject to section 420-58 (certain free carbon units).

420-52 FIFO cost method of working out the value of units

The FIFO cost method for working out the *value of the *registered emissions units you *held at the end of an income year means that the value of the units is the *cost of the registered emissions units, and, for the purposes of the application of this Subdivision to you for the income year:

- (a) if any of the registered emissions units are:
 - (i) *carbon units that have a *vintage year that is the same as, or earlier than, the financial year to which the income year relates; or
 - (ii) eligible international emissions units (within the meaning of the Australian National Registry of Emissions Units Act 2011); or

- (iii) *Australian carbon credit units;
you must account for those units on a first-in first-out basis;
and
- (b) if:
 - (i) any of the registered emissions units are carbon units that have the same vintage year; and
 - (ii) that vintage year is later than the financial year to which the income year relates;you must account for those units on a first-in first-out basis;
and
- (c) if any of the registered emissions units are *Kyoto units that are not eligible international emissions units (within the meaning of the Australian National Registry of Emissions Units Act 2011)—you must account for those units on a first-in first-out basis.

420-53 Actual cost method of working out the value of units

The actual cost method for working out the value of the *registered emissions units you *held at the end of the income year means that the value of the units is the *cost of the units, and, for the purposes of the application of this Subdivision to you for the income year, you must not account for any of those units on a first-in first-out basis.

420-54 Market value method of working out the value of units

The market value method for working out the value of the *registered emissions units you *held at the end of the income year means that the value of the units is the *market value of the units at the end of the income year.

420-55 Valuation method for first income year at the end of which you held registered emissions units

Limitation on choice—before 2015-16 income year

- (4) If the current income year is before the 2015-16 income year, you must not make a choice under subsection (2) for the current income year if you have previously made a choice under that subsection for an earlier income year.
