Guide to Division 378

378-1 What this Division is about

Companies may be entitled to a refundable tax offset in relation to qualifying Australian development expenditure incurred in completing or porting a digital game, or carrying on ongoing development of digital games in an income year.

This offset is designed to support the growth of the digital games industry in Australia by providing concessional tax treatment for Australian expenditure.

One of the requirements for entitlement to the digital games tax offset is that the company must be issued with a certificate in respect of the completion, porting or ongoing development of a digital game. The certificate specifies the amount of qualifying Australian development expenditure determined by the Arts Minister in respect of the completion, porting or ongoing development of the digital game.

The amount of the refundable tax offset for an income year for a company is up to 30% of the sum of the determined totals of qualifying Australian development expenditure specified in certificates issued to the company for the income year.

Subdivision 378-A—Tax offset for Australian expenditure in developing digital games

Table of sections

378-10	Company entitled to refundable tax offset for Australian expenditure incurred in developing digital games
378-15	Amount of digital games tax offset
378-20	Meaning of digital game
378-25	Arts Minister must issue certificate for the digital games tax offset
378-30	Arts Minister to determine a company's qualifying Australian development expenditure for the digital games tax offset

378-10 Company entitled to refundable tax offset for Australian expenditure incurred in developing digital games

- (1) A company is entitled to a *tax offset under this section (the digital games tax offset) for an income year if:
- (a) the *Arts Minister has issued one or more certificates to the company for the income year under section 378-25 (certificate for the digital games tax offset); and
 - (b) the company claims the offset in its *income tax return for the income year; and
 - (c) the company:
 - (i) is an Australian resident that has an *ABN; or
 - (ii) is a foreign resident that has a *permanent establishment in Australia and an ABN;

when the company lodges the income tax return and when the tax offset is due to be credited to the company.

Note: The digital games tax offset is a refundable tax offset: see section 67-23.

- (2) The claim referred to in paragraph (1)(b) may be varied to take account of a variation under subsection 378-15(5) of a notice given under subsection 378-15(3) by the company in relation to the income year. Otherwise, the claim is irrevocable.

378-15 Amount of digital games tax offset

- (1) Subject to subsection (2), the amount of the digital games tax offset for a company for an income year is the lower of:
- (a) 30% of the sum of all the amounts determined by the *Arts Minister under section 378-30 that are specified in certificates issued to the company for the income year under section 378-25; and
 - (b) $20,000,000.
- (2) If the sum of the amounts of the digital games tax offset for an income year worked out under subsection (1) for:
- (a) the company; and
 - (b) each other company (each of which is a related company) that is *connected with or is an *affiliate of the company;
- is greater than $20,000,000, the amount of the digital games tax offset for the company is:
- (c) if the requirements of subsections (3) and (4) are satisfied—the amount specified in the notice given by the company under subsection (3); or
 - (d) otherwise—nil.
- (3) The requirements of this subsection are:
- (a) the company gives the Commissioner a notice in the *approved form specifying an amount that is not more than 30% of the sum of all the amounts determined by the *Arts Minister under section 378-25 that are specified in certificates issued to the company for the income year under section 378-30; and

- (b) one or more of the related companies also give the Commissioner a notice in the approved form specifying an amount that is not more than 30% of the sum of all the amounts determined by the Arts Minister under section 378-25 that are specified in certificates issued to the related company for the income year under section 378-30; and
 - (c) the sum of all the amounts specified in the notices given by the company and those related companies does not exceed $20,000,000.

Example: Bilby Co is primarily responsible for developing a digital game. Wombat Co, a company connected with Bilby Co, is also primarily responsible for developing a digital game. The amount worked out under subsection (1) is $15,000,000 for the income year for each company. Since the sum of these amounts exceeds $20,000,000, the companies must coordinate with one another to ensure that the amount collectively claimed stays under the $20,000,000 cap. Bilby Co and Wombat Co agree that for the income year, they will each give the Commissioner a notice specifying $10,000,000 in notices. If they both do so, each will receive an offset of $10,000,000 for the income year.

- (4) A notice given under subsection (3) by a company in relation to an income year must be given at the same time as the company claims the digital games *tax offset in its *income tax return for the income year.
- (5) A company may vary the amount specified in a notice given under subsection (3) in relation to an income year if:
 - (a) in specifying the amount in the notice:
 - (i) the company made an inadvertent error in determining whether another company is a related company; and
 - (ii) as a result the company did not take account of the amount of the digital games tax offset for the other company for the income year; and
 - (b) the company gives the Commissioner a notice in the *approved form specifying the varied amount.

Otherwise, the notice is irrevocable.

378-20 Meaning of digital game

- (1) A digital game is a game in electronic form that is capable of generating a display on:

- (a) a portable electronic device; or
 - (b) a computer monitor, television screen, liquid crystal display or similar medium;
- that allows for the playing of an interactive game.
- (2) A component of a *digital game is taken to be a digital game if:
- (a) a company that:
 - (i) is a foreign resident that does not have a *permanent establishment in Australia; and
 - (ii) owns or controls the rights to develop the digital game; engages another company (the Australian developer) to develop the component of the digital game; and
 - (b) the Australian developer:
 - (i) is an Australian resident that has an *ABN, or is a foreign resident that has a *permanent establishment in Australia and an ABN; and
 - (ii) is primarily responsible for undertaking activities necessary for the development of the digital game in Australia.

378-25 Arts Minister must issue certificate for the digital games tax offset

Completion certificate

- (1) The *Arts Minister must issue a certificate (a completion certificate) to a company for an income year in relation to a *digital game if:
- (a) the game is *completed in the income year; and
 - (b) the company has made an application for a completion certificate in relation to the game; and
 - (c) the total of the company's *qualifying Australian development expenditure on the game incurred in completing the game is at least $500,000; and
 - (d) the Arts Minister is satisfied that the conditions in subsection (7) (about the type of game) are met for the game; and
 - (e) the Arts Minister is satisfied that the company:
 - (i) has developed the game as an original game; and

- (ii) is primarily responsible for undertaking activities necessary for the development of the game in Australia.

Note: The operation of paragraph (e) is affected by paragraph 378-45(1)(d) (which deals with the situation where one company takes over the development of a digital game from another company).

- (2) A *digital game is completed on the earlier of:
 - (a) when the game is first released to the general public (other than for testing purposes); or
 - (b) if the game is developed by a company under a contract entered into at *arm's length with another entity—when the company first provides a version of the game to the entity in a state where it could reasonably be regarded as ready to be released to the general public.

Porting certificate

- (3) The *Arts Minister must issue a certificate (a porting certificate) to a company for an income year in relation to a *digital game if:
 - (a) the game is *ported in the income year; and
 - (b) the company has made an application for a porting certificate in relation to the game; and
 - (c) the total of the company's *qualifying Australian development expenditure on the game incurred in porting the game is at least $500,000; and
 - (d) the Arts Minister is satisfied that the conditions in subsection (7) (about the type of game) are met for the game; and
 - (e) the Arts Minister is satisfied that the company:
 - (i) either owns or controls the rights to develop the game or has been engaged to develop the game by the entity who owns or controls the rights to develop the game; and
 - (ii) is primarily responsible for undertaking activities necessary for the development of the game in Australia.

Note: The operation of subparagraph (e)(ii) is affected by paragraph 378-45(1)(d) (which deals with the situation where one company takes over the development of a digital game from another company).

- (4) A *digital game that has been *completed is ported on the earlier of:
- (a) when the game is first made available to the general public (other than for testing purposes) on a new platform; or
 - (b) if the company developed the game under a contract entered into at *arm's length with another entity—when the company first provides a version of the game to the entity in a state where it could reasonably be regarded as ready to be made available to the general public on a new platform.

Ongoing development certificate

- (5) The *Arts Minister must issue a certificate (an ongoing development certificate) to a company for an income year in relation to one or more *digital games if:
- (a) *ongoing development on the games occurs in the income year; and
 - (b) the company has made an application for the ongoing development certificate; and
 - (c) the total of the company's *qualifying Australian development expenditure on the games incurred in the income year on the ongoing development of the games in the income year is at least $500,000; and
 - (d) the Arts Minister is satisfied that the conditions in subsection (7) (about the type of game) are met for each of the games; and
 - (e) the Arts Minister is satisfied that the company:
 - (i) either owns or controls the rights to develop each of the games or has been engaged to develop the games by the entities who own or control the rights to develop the games; and
 - (ii) is primarily responsible for undertaking activities necessary for the development of each of the games in Australia.

Note: The operation of subparagraph (e)(ii) is affected by paragraph 378-45(1)(d) (which deals with the situation where one company takes over the development of a digital game from another company).

- (6) Ongoing development on a *digital game means activities undertaken to update, improve or maintain the game after it has been *completed.

Type of digital game

- (7) The conditions in this subsection that must be met for a *digital game are:
- (a) the game is primarily developed to be made available to the general public for entertainment or educational purposes; and
 - (b) any of the following apply to the game:
 - (i) the game is made available for use over the internet;
 - (ii) the game is primarily played through the internet;
 - (iii) the game operates only when a player is connected to the internet; and
 - (c) the game is not any of the following:
 - (i) a game that is a gambling service (within the meaning of the Interactive Gambling Act 2001), or is substantially comprised of gambling or gambling-like practices;
 - (ii) a game that contains material likely to lead to the game being refused classification under the Classification (Publications, Films and Computer Games) Act 1995;
 - (iii) a game that is primarily developed for industrial, corporate or institutional purposes;
 - (iv) a game that is primarily developed to advertise or promote a product, entity or service.

Example 1: A slot machine simulator game would fail to satisfy the condition that the digital game must not be a gambling service or substantially comprise of gambling or gambling-like practices, even if the game did not involve any real money or money equivalent. However, an adventure game in which a player may advance to a higher level by winning a game of poker could still meet this condition.

Example 2: An interactive corporate training program would fail to satisfy the condition that the digital game must not be primarily developed for corporate purposes.

378-30 Arts Minister to determine a company's qualifying Australian development expenditure for the digital games tax offset

- (1) The *Arts Minister must, as soon as practicable after deciding to issue a certificate under section 378-25 to a company, determine for the purposes of the digital games tax offset:
 - (a) if the certificate is to be issued under subsection 378-25(1) (completion certificate) to the company for an income year in relation to a *digital game—the total of the company's *qualifying Australian development expenditure on the game incurred in *completing the game, whether incurred in that income year or in an earlier income year; or
 - (b) if the certificate is to be issued under subsection 378-25(3) (porting certificate) to the company for an income year in relation to a digital game—the total of the company's qualifying Australian development expenditure on the game incurred in *porting the game, whether incurred in that income year or in an earlier income year; or
 - (c) if the certificate is to be issued under subsection 378-25(5) (ongoing development certificate) to the company for an income year in relation to one or more digital games—the total of the company's qualifying Australian development expenditure on the games incurred in the income year on the *ongoing development of the games in the income year.
- (2) The determination must be in writing, but is not a legislative instrument.
- (3) In making the determination, the *Arts Minister must have regard to the matters in Subdivision 378-B.
- (4) The *Arts Minister must give the company written notice of the determination (including reasons for the determination).

Subdivision 378-B—Qualifying Australian development expenditure

Table of sections

378-35 Development expenditure

378-40	Qualifying Australian development expenditure
378-45	Expenditure incurred by prior companies in completing or porting a digital game
378-50	Expenditure to be worked out excluding GST

378-35 Development expenditure

- (1) A company's development expenditure on a *digital game is expenditure that the company incurs in, or in relation to, the development of the game.

Specific inclusions

- (2) Without limiting subsection (1), the following expenditure of the company in relation to the *digital game is development expenditure on the game:
- (a) remuneration provided to persons (including independent contractors but excluding persons of a kind referred to in subsection (5)) who perform work or services directly for the company that are attributable to the development of the game, including the following:
 - (i) project managers and artistic, creative and design directors;
 - (ii) game designers;
 - (iii) software developers and programmers;
 - (iv) engineers (including for audio, graphics, physics and software);
 - (v) user experience designers and testers;
 - (vi) behaviour analysts;
 - (vii) quality assurance testers;
 - (viii) writers;
 - (ix) artists, animators and performers (for music, voice and motion capture);
 - (x) songwriters, composers, musicians and sound designers;
 - (xi) persons performing roles that are broadly similar to those described in subparagraphs (i) to (x);
 - (b) expenditure on research for the game;
 - (c) expenditure on prototyping for the game;

- (d) expenditure on underlying game infrastructure (for example, game engines and anti-cheating controls);
- (e) expenditure on user testing, debugging and collecting user data for the game;
- (f) expenditure on updating the game;
- (g) expenditure on obtaining or maintaining a classification under the Classification (Publications, Films and Computer Games) Act 1995;
- (h) expenditure on adapting the game for use on particular platforms.

Specific exclusions

- (3) Despite subsections (1) and (2), the following expenditure of the company in relation to the *digital game is not development expenditure on the game:
 - (a) the company's general business overheads including, for example:
 - (i) expenditure incurred in relation to insurance, audit services, accounting services, human resources, recruitment services and legal services; and
 - (ii) expenditure on travel, accommodation, catering, entertaining or hospitality; and
 - (iii) expenditure on visas or work permits; and
 - (iv) expenditure incurred by way of, or in relation to, the financing of the game or company;
 - (b) expenditure on, or in connection with, the following persons:
 - (i) employees and independent contractors whose roles are not related to, or are incidental and not directly attributable to, the development of the game (including for example, administrative employees, social media managers, sales and marketing professionals, community managers and forum administrators and moderators);
 - (ii) employees and independent contractors who were not Australian residents at the time the expenditure was incurred;
 - (c) expenditure on the use of land or premises;

- (d) expenditure on computer hardware or servers, or the rights to access computer hardware or servers;
 - (e) expenditure on acquiring or licensing software;
 - (f) expenditure on marketing, advertising, publicity or promotion for the game or company;
 - (g) expenditure on activities that are incidental to, but not directly attributable to, the development of the game (including, for example, expenditure on externally provided training, conferences, hiring equipment, release events and trade show demonstrations);
 - (h) expenditure incurred to acquire copyright or a trade mark, or a licence in relation to copyright or a trade mark (other than in relation to acquiring a licence for employees or contractors);
 - (i) expenditure on obtaining permission to use the image, likeness or name of a person or entity, or obtaining an endorsement by a person or entity;
 - (j) expenditure on distributing the game;
 - (k) expenditure on acquiring users for the game;
 - (l) any expenditure claimed for the purposes of another *tax offset, including for the purposes of section 355-100 (tax offsets for R&D);
 - (m) expenditure that gives rise to notional deductions for the purposes of section 355-205 (deductions for R&D expenditure);
 - (n) expenditure funded directly or indirectly by:
 - (i) a Commonwealth grant or subsidy to which Australian businesses are generally eligible; or
 - (ii) a State or Territory grant or subsidy to which Australian business in that State or Territory are generally eligible.

Expenditure incurred in relation to another entity

- (4) Despite subsections (1) and (2), the following expenditure of the company in relation to the *digital game is not development expenditure on the game:
 - (a) expenditure on contracting another entity (the first contractor) to perform work or services for the company where the first contractor contracts for another entity (the second contractor) to perform the work or services and either:

- (i) the second contractor is not a natural person (including an independent contractor); or
 - (ii) the second contractor contracts for another entity to perform the work or services;
- (b) expenditure incurred in relation to an entity that is an *associate of the company, other than an associate of a kind referred to in subsection (5);
- (c) expenditure incurred in connection with a transaction in which the company and another party to the transaction did not deal with each other at *arm's length.

Remuneration of influential employees

- (5) If a natural person (an influential employee):
- (a) is an *associate of the company because of subparagraph 318(2)(d)(i) or (ii) of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1936; and
 - (b) performs work or services directly for the company that are attributable to the development of the *digital game in an income year;

then, despite subsection (1), only the first $65,000 of remuneration provided by the company to the influential employee for the income year is development expenditure on the digital game.

Note: A minor voting interest is not sufficient for a person to be an associate of the company.

Decline in value not development expenditure

- (6) To avoid doubt, the decline in the value of a *depreciating asset is not development expenditure on a *digital game.

378-40 Qualifying Australian development expenditure

- (1) A company's qualifying Australian development expenditure on a *digital game is the company's *development expenditure on the game to the extent to which the expenditure:
- (a) satisfies subsection (2); and

- (b) is incurred for, or is reasonably attributable to, goods and services provided or acquired in Australia.

The relevance test

- (2) An item of a company's *development expenditure on a *digital game:
- (a) if the item of expenditure is substantially attributable to developing the game—satisfies this subsection in full; and
 - (b) if the item of expenditure is not substantially attributable to developing the game—satisfies this subsection to the extent that the expenditure is attributable to developing the game.

Expenditure that does not qualify

- (3) For the purposes of a *digital game in respect of which a company applies for a certificate under subsection 378-25(1) (completion certificate), an item of the company's *development expenditure on the game is not qualifying Australian development expenditure to the extent it is incurred after the earliest of the following:
- (a) the day on which the game is *completed;
 - (b) the day on which the company applies for the certificate;
 - (c) the day on which the game has been available to the general public for the purposes of conducting testing for one year.
- (4) For the purposes of a *digital game in respect of which a company applies for a certificate under subsection 378-25(3) (porting certificate), an item of the company's *development expenditure on the game is not qualifying Australian development expenditure to the extent it is incurred after the earlier of the following:
- (a) the day on which the game is *ported;
 - (b) the day on which the company applies for the certificate.
- (5) You cannot count the same expenditure as *qualifying Australian development expenditure for the purposes of more than one certificate under section 378-25.

Example: Expenditure on porting a digital game that is claimed as qualifying Australian development expenditure for the purposes of a certificate under subsection 378-25(3) (porting certificate) cannot be claimed for the purposes of a certificate under subsection 378-25(5) (ongoing development certificate).

378-45 Expenditure incurred by prior companies in completing or porting a digital game

Expenditure incurred by outgoing company attributed to incoming company

- (1) For the purposes of this Division, if a company (the incoming company) takes over the development of a *digital game from another company (the outgoing company):
- (a) expenditure incurred by the outgoing company in relation to *completing or *porting the game is taken to have been incurred by the incoming company; and
 - (b) for the purposes of determining the extent to which that expenditure is *qualifying Australian development expenditure of the incoming company, the incoming company is taken:
 - (i) to have been an Australian resident at any time when the outgoing company was an Australian resident; and
 - (ii) to have been a foreign resident at any time when the outgoing company was a foreign resident; and
 - (iii) to have had a *permanent establishment in Australia at any time when the outgoing company had a permanent establishment in Australia; and
 - (iv) to have had an *ABN at any time when the outgoing company had an ABN; and
 - (c) expenditure that the incoming company incurs in order to be able to take over the development of the game is to be disregarded for the purposes of this Division; and
 - (d) any activities carried out by the outgoing company in relation to the game are taken, for the purposes of paragraph 378-25(1)(e) and subparagraphs 378-25(3)(e)(ii) and (5)(e)(ii), to have been carried out by the incoming company in relation to the game.

Expenditure previously attributed to outgoing company attributed to incoming company

- (2) For the purposes of subsection (1):
- (a) expenditure incurred by the outgoing company in relation to *completing or *porting the *digital game includes

- expenditure that the outgoing company is itself taken to have incurred on the digital game because of the operation of subsection (1) or a previous operation of that subsection; and
- (b) the outgoing company is taken:
- (i) to have been an Australian resident at any time when the outgoing company is taken to have been an Australian resident because of the operation of subsection (1) or a previous operation of that subsection; and
 - (ii) to have been a foreign resident at any time when the outgoing company was a foreign resident because of the operation of subsection (1) or a previous operation of that subsection; and
 - (iii) to have had a *permanent establishment in Australia at any time when the outgoing company is taken to have had a permanent establishment in Australia because of the operation of subsection (1) or a previous operation of that subsection; and
 - (iv) to have had an *ABN at any time when the outgoing company is taken to have had an ABN because of the operation of subsection (1) or a previous operation of that subsection; and
- (c) activities carried out by the outgoing company in relation to the digital game include activities that the outgoing company is taken to have carried out in relation to the digital game because of the operation of subsection (1) or a previous operation of that subsection.

Example: If Uncle Carty Ltd starts out developing a digital game and then Mr Grouble Ltd takes over the development of the digital game, Mr Grouble Ltd is taken to have incurred the expenditure that Uncle Carty Ltd incurred on the digital game. If Lousie Ltd subsequently takes over the development of the digital game from Mr Grouble Ltd, Lousie Ltd is taken to have incurred the expenditure that Mr Grouble Ltd incurred on the digital game (including the expenditure of Uncle Carty Ltd that is attributed to Mr Grouble Ltd).

378-50 Expenditure to be worked out excluding GST

In determining an amount of expenditure for the purpose of this Division, the expenditure is taken to exclude *GST.
