- (1) In this Part:

amending Part means Part 1 of Schedule 1 to the Treasury Laws Amendment (2023 Measures No. 1) Act 2023.

- (2) An expression used in this Part that is also used in Part 7.6 has the same meaning as in that Part.

1699A Transitional—registration of relevant providers

- (1) This section applies to a registration of a relevant provider that was in force under subsection 921ZC(1) immediately before the commencement of the amending Part.
- (2) The registration of the relevant provider continues in force (and may be dealt with) on and after the commencement of the amending Part as follows:
- (a) if the application to register the relevant provider was made in accordance with section 921ZA—as if the relevant provider had been registered under subsection 921ZC(1) as substituted by the amending Part;
 - (b) if the application to register the relevant provider was made by a financial services licensee in accordance with section 921ZB—as if the relevant provider had been registered under subsection 921ZC(1A) as substituted by the amending Part in relation to the financial services licensee.

Note: See section 1699D for transitional arrangements in relation to a registration of a relevant provider that is suspended immediately before the commencement of the amending Part.

1699B Transitional—relevant providers who are financial services licensees applying to be registered

- (1) This section applies to an application for the registration of a relevant provider if:
- (a) the application was made in accordance with section 921ZA as in force immediately before the commencement of the amending Part; and
 - (b) ASIC had not made a decision under section 921ZC before the commencement of the amending Part in relation to the application.
- (2) The application continues in force (and may be dealt with) on and after the commencement of the amending Part, as if the application had been made to register the relevant provider under subsection 921ZC(1) as substituted by the amending Part.

- (1) This section applies to an application for the registration of a relevant provider if:
 - (a) the application was made in accordance with section 921ZB as in force immediately before the commencement of the amending Part; and
 - (b) ASIC had not made a decision under section 921ZC before the commencement of the amending Part in relation to the application.
- (2) The application continues in force (and may be dealt with) on and after the commencement of the amending Part, as if the application had been made to register the relevant provider under subsection 921ZC(1A) as substituted by the amending Part.

1699D Transitional—registration suspension orders

- (1) This section applies to a registration suspension order that:
 - (a) was in force immediately before the commencement of the amending Part in relation to a registration under subsection 921ZC(1) of a relevant provider; and
 - (b) specified a suspension period ending after that commencement.
- (2) The registration suspension order continues in force (and may be dealt with) on and after that commencement as if it were an instrument of a kind that:
 - (a) is specified in paragraph 921L(1)(b) as substituted by the amending Part; and
 - (b) suspends that registration for the remainder of the suspension period.
- (3) After the suspension period, that registration continues in force (and may be dealt with) as follows:
 - (a) if the application to register the relevant provider was made in accordance with section 921ZA—as if that registration had been under subsection 921ZC(1) as substituted by the amending Part;

- (b) if the application to register the relevant provider was made by a financial services licensee in accordance with section 921ZB—as if that registration had been under subsection 921ZC(1A) as substituted by the amending Part in relation to the financial services licensee.

Note: The provider’s registration will not already have been continued under section 1699A because that registration was suspended immediately before the commencement of the amending Part and therefore was not in force at that time (see subsection 921L(3)).

1699E Transitional—registration prohibition orders

- (1) This section applies to a registration prohibition order that:
 - (a) was in force immediately before the commencement of the amending Part in relation to a registration under subsection 921ZC(1) of a relevant provider; and
 - (b) specified a cancellation time for that registration; and
 - (c) specified a prohibition end day that is after the commencement of the amending Part.
- (2) The registration prohibition order continues in force (and may be dealt with) on and after that commencement as if it were an instrument of a kind that:
 - (a) is specified in paragraph 921L(1)(c) as substituted by the amending Part; and
 - (b) if the cancellation time is at or after the commencement of the amending Part—cancels at the cancellation time the relevant provider’s registration under subsection 921ZC(1) or (1A) as substituted by the amending Part; and
 - (c) provides that the person who is or was the relevant provider is not to be registered under subsection 921ZC(1) or (1A), as substituted by the amending Part, until after the prohibition end day.

Note 1: If the cancellation time was before the commencement of the amending Part, then the cancellation of the provider’s registration will have already taken effect before that commencement.

Note 2: If the cancellation time is at or after that commencement, section 1699A will continue the provider’s registration up until the cancellation time. Paragraph (b) of this subsection confirms that the provider’s registration will then be cancelled at the cancellation time.

Note 3: Paragraph (c) confirms that the person is not to be registered again until after the prohibition end day.

A Financial Services and Credit Panel may under subsection 921K(1) make an instrument of a kind specified in paragraph 921L(1)(b) or (c), as substituted by the amending Part, because of circumstances mentioned in subsection 921K(1) that happen before, on or after the commencement of the amending Part.

- (2) In considering whether the condition in paragraph (1)(a) is satisfied, take the following matters into account:
- (a) the nature of distributions made by the entity before the time at which the relevant distribution was made (including the extent to which such distributions were a return on capital);
 - (b) the timing of such distributions;
 - (c) the amount of such distributions;
 - (d) any explanations given by the entity for making such distributions;
 - (e) the amount of the *franking credits on, and the *franking percentages for, such distributions;
 - (f) any other relevant consideration.

Distributions funded by issuing equity interests are to be disregarded in determining past practice

- (3) In considering whether the condition in paragraph (1)(a) is satisfied, disregard a distribution if:
- (a) the distribution:
 - (i) is a *franked distribution; or
 - (ii) would be a franked distribution if subsection (1) did not apply to it; and
 - (b) subsection (1) would apply to all or any part of the distribution if paragraph (1)(a) were omitted.

When issue of equity interests has the effect or purpose of funding all or part of a distribution

- (4) In considering whether the condition in paragraph (1)(c) is satisfied, take the following matters into account:

- (a) the extent to which the time (or times) at which any of the *equity interests mentioned in that paragraph were issued differs (or differ) from the time at which the relevant distribution was made;
- (b) the extent to which the amount of the funds from the issue of any of those equity interests differs from the amount of the relevant distribution or the relevant part (as the case may be);
- (c) the extent to which the financial position of any of the following entities changed as a result of the relevant distribution (or any part of the relevant distribution) and the issue of any of those equity interests:
 - (i) the entity that made the relevant distribution;
 - (ii) an entity that, before, at or after the time at which the relevant distribution was made, was a *connected entity of that entity;
 - (iii) if the entity in which those equity interests were issued is not the entity that made the relevant distribution—the entity in which those equity interests were issued;
- (d) the use of the funds from the issue of any of those equity interests;
- (e) whether there are any reasons for the issue of any of those equity interests other than the funding of the relevant distribution (or any part of the relevant distribution);
- (f) the extent to which the issue of any of those equity interests was underwritten (whether formally or informally);
- (g) how the history of the amounts of *franking surplus or *franking deficit for the *franking account of the entity that made the relevant distribution compares to:
 - (i) the history of profits and or loss of that entity; and
 - (ii) the history of the balance of the share capital account of that entity;
- (h) if the entity that made the relevant distribution is not the entity in which those equity interests were issued—the nature and extent of the relationship between those entities;
- (i) the extent to which:
 - (i) the entity to which the relevant distribution was made; and

- (ii) other entities to which analogous distributions were made;
 - (iii) other entities to which analogous distributions were not made, but which were entitled to analogous distributions;
- are the same as the entities to which those equity interests were issued;
- (j) other distributions (if any) made by the entity that made the relevant distribution (whether before, at or after the time at which the relevant distribution was made);
 - (k) any other relevant consideration.
