Date of effect

7. This Ruling applies from 1 July 2024 to a customer specified in paragraph 4 of this Ruling that enters into the scheme from 1 July 2024 until 30 June 2027.

8. However, the Ruling only applies and may be relied on to the extent that there is no change in the scheme or in the customer's involvement in the scheme. If the scheme carried out is materially different from the scheme described at paragraphs 11 to 14 of this Ruling, this Ruling cannot be relied upon and may be withdrawn or modified.

Ruling

9. Subject to paragraph 3 of this Ruling and the assumptions in paragraph 10 of this Ruling:

- (a) The Prepayment Amount paid by a customer to AG Warehouse under the Program is deductible under section 8-1 of the ITAA 1997 in the income year it is paid.¹
- (b) Section 82KZM will not apply to deny a customer an immediate deduction of the Prepayment Amount incurred under the Program and allowable as a deduction under section 8-1 of the ITAA 1997.
- (c) The anti-avoidance provisions in Part IVA will not apply to deny the deductibility of the Prepayment Amount incurred under the Program by a customer.

Assumptions

10. This Ruling is made on the basis of the following necessary assumptions:

- (a) The customer is an Australian resident for tax purposes.
- (b) The customer is a small business entity as defined in section 328-110 of the ITAA 1997 or an entity covered by subsection 82KZM(1A).

¹ The extent to which the Prepayment Amount is deductible under section 8-1 of the ITAA 1997 is subject to section 27-5 of the ITAA 1997 which denies a deduction for a loss or outgoing to the extent that it includes an amount relating to a GST credit to which a customer is entitled.

Status: legally binding

- (c) The customer is carrying on a primary production business with a purpose of producing assessable income in excess of its deductible expenditure, and all Eligible Products purchased from AG Warehouse under the Program are used in carrying on that business.
- (d) The customer has not chosen to apply section 82KZMD to the expenditure incurred under the Program.
- (e) The Prepayment Amount is not 'excluded expenditure' as defined in subsection 82KZL(1).
- (f) To the extent the Eligible Products purchased by the customer from AG Warehouse are goods, they will not constitute trading stock and are not of a capital, private or domestic nature.
- (g) To the extent the Eligible Products purchased by the customer from AG Warehouse are services, they are not of a capital, private or domestic nature and will be performed by the Deadline.
- (h) The scheme will be executed in the manner described in the terms and conditions in the Application Form and in the Scheme section of this Ruling.
- (i) The terms and conditions in the application form offered by AG Warehouse in respect of the income years ending 30 June 2025, 2026 and 2027 will not be materially different to the terms and conditions in the Application Form referred to in paragraph 11 of this Ruling.
- (j) All dealings between the customer and AG Warehouse will be at arm's length.

Scheme

11. The scheme is identified and described in the following:
- application for a product ruling as constituted by documents and information received on 28 June 2024, and

Overview of scheme

13. The terms and conditions of the Program, as set out in the Application Form, constitute an agreement between a customer of AG Warehouse and AG Warehouse. The Program is open for acceptance prior to 30 June in the year of payment and is designed to assist customer cash-flow management by enabling them to align their payment for Eligible Products with seasonal farming periods, and benefit from potential discounts offered.

Appendix – Explanation

ⓘ This Explanation is provided as information to help you understand how the Commissioner's view has been reached. It does not form part of the binding public ruling.

Table of Contents	Paragraph
Section 8-1 of the ITAA 1997 – deductibility of the Prepayment Amount	15
Section 82KZM – prepaid expenditure incurred by certain small and medium business entities and individuals incurring non-business expenditure	19

Section 8-1 of the ITAA 1997 – deductibility of the Prepayment Amount

15. A loss or outgoing is deductible under section 8-1 of the ITAA 1997 if it is necessarily incurred in carrying on a business for the purpose of gaining or producing a taxpayer's assessable income. The expenditure must be part of the cost of trading operations and must not be of a capital, private or domestic nature.

16. An outgoing incurred by a business will be 'necessarily incurred' where, in the circumstances, it is reasonably capable of being seen as desirable or appropriate from the point of view of the pursuit of the business ends of the business being carried on for the purpose of earning assessable income (see Magna Alloys & Research Pty Ltd v. Commissioner of Taxation of the Commonwealth of Australia [1980] FCA 180).

17. Upon entry into the Program the Prepayment Amount is both immediately due and non-refundable such that the customer becomes definitively committed to, and incurs, the Prepayment Amount. As the Prepayment Amount is incurred for the purchase of Eligible Products to be used in the customer's primary production business, it constitutes expenditure which is clearly appropriate from the point of view of the pursuit of the business ends of the customer's business and is therefore necessarily incurred in the carrying on of that business.

18. The Prepayment Amount necessarily incurred by the customer to purchase Eligible Products in the course of carrying on its business is not of a capital, private or domestic nature. The deduction for the Prepayment Amount is allowable under section 8-1 of the ITAA 1997 in the income year the payment is made to AG Warehouse (that is, at the time it is necessarily incurred).

Section 82KZM – prepaid expenditure incurred by certain small and medium business entities and individuals incurring non-business expenditure

19. Subject to paragraph 20 of this Ruling, section 82KZM operates to spread over more than one income year a deduction which, apart from that section, would be allowable under section 8-1 of the ITAA 1997 for the year of income in which the prepaid expenditure (other than excluded expenditure as defined in subsection 82KZL(1)) is incurred under an agreement by a taxpayer that is either:

- a small business entity, or an entity covered by subsection 82KZM(1A), for the year of income that has not chosen to apply section 82KZMD to the expenditure, or
- an individual that has not incurred the expenditure in carrying on a business.

Status: not legally binding

20. Section 82KZM applies if the eligible service period for the expenditure is longer than 12 months, or the eligible service period for the expenditure is 12 months or shorter but ends after the last day of the year of income after the one in which the expenditure was incurred.

21. In relation to the Prepayment Amount incurred by the customer under the Program, the eligible service period for the purpose of section 82KZM is the period to which the Prepayment Amount relates. That period is:

- from the day the Prepayment Amount is paid, being the day on which the first of the things to be done under the Program in return for the Prepayment Amount (that is, the provision of Eligible Products by AG Warehouse) is required or permitted (as the case may be) to commence being done
- until the Deadline (the date that is 12 months after the Prepayment Amount is paid), being the last day on which a thing to be done under the Program in return for the Prepayment Amount is required or permitted (as the case may be) to cease being done.

22. The eligible service period in relation to the deductible Prepayment Amount under the Program is 12 months or less. As it is not more than 12 months and does not end after the last day of the year of income after the one in which the expenditure was incurred, section 82KZM will have no application to customers that (as assumed at paragraph 10 of this Ruling) are a small business entity (or an entity covered by subsection 82KZM(1A)) for the year of income and have not chosen to apply section 82KZMD to the expenditure.
