STATEMENT

1. The ATO Receivables Policy (the Policy) contains the administrative policy of the Tax Office relating to the obligations imposed on taxpayers by the various taxation laws in respect of the:
 - lodgment of returns and other documents, and
 - payment of liabilities,
 as well as guidelines for the remission of penalties and interest charges arising from a breach of those obligations. It also includes chapters relating to registration matters and the payment of interest and refunds by the Commissioner.
2. A link to the Policy is contained in the other references section at the conclusion of this practice statement.
3. Tax Office staff must follow the administrative policies outlined in the Policy. In relation to the exercise of the Commissioner's various discretions under the relevant taxation laws, it is not possible to set out all the circumstances in which the discretion may or may not be exercised. Cases that appear similar in nature may have different outcomes based upon their particular facts. Each case has to be considered on its merits and on the basis of all the relevant facts. Tax Office staff must take care not to consider irrelevant considerations, and must exercise their own judgment in arriving at an appropriate decision. The decision should be made in good faith and without bias.
4. All proposed changes to this Policy are to be escalated for review (together with documented reasons for any proposed changes) in accordance with the escalation process of the relevant business line and then sent by email to Complex Law and Administrative Policy in Operations at the following address: ATOREceivablesPolicy@ato.gov.au (Policy Mailbox).

Currency of the Policy

5. The online version of the Policy is the only current version. Tax Office staff must check the online version for updates when making a decision to which the Policy relates.
6. Tax Office staff who require previous versions of the Policy should contact Operations Complex Law and Administrative Policy at the email address provided in paragraph 4 of this practice statement.
7. Where there is any reason to doubt the currency, correctness or application of the information contained in this Policy, or for any other reason, please escalate for review (together with documented reasons for any proposed changes) in accordance with the escalation process of the relevant business line.

Review Process

Types of review

8. Changes to chapters may be required for a number of reasons including; as a result of a half yearly review, changes to legislation, case law or Tax Office policy, or as a result of feedback.

Half yearly reviews

9. This review process is initiated by the Policy co-ordinator and undertaken 6 months after the last review date for the chapter. The relevant policy area will undertake the review and either update or provide assurance that the chapter is still current.

Changes in legislation, case law or Tax Office policy

10. When there are changes to legislation, case law or Tax Office policy, impacted chapters of the Policy should be updated as soon as possible.

As a result of feedback

11. Both external parties and Tax Office staff may provide feedback/propose changes to any aspect of the Policy at any time. Feedback and proposed changes should be directed to the Policy Mailbox.
12. As prescribed in paragraph 7 of this practice statement Tax Office staff should adhere to the escalation process applicable to their business line.
13. Dependant upon the type of feedback/proposed change the policy area may decide to include any changes in the half yearly review process or update the chapter immediately.
14. All feedback/proposed changes will be acknowledged and a response provided.

Business rules

15. The business rules that are linked to this practice statement specify the procedures and practices to be followed to ensure the timely and effective updating of the Policy chapters.
16. A link to the business rules is provided for internal use by Tax Office staff in the other references section at the conclusion of this practice statement.

Responsibilities

17. The responsibilities below should be read in conjunction with the procedures and processes outlined in the business rules.

The general responsibilities of the policy area

18. The policy area that has ownership for a Part of the Policy is responsible for reviewing and updating the chapter in accordance with the procedures outlined in the Business Rules. This includes consulting with stakeholders, ensuring the currency of the chapter by completing reviews within agreed timeframes and that the information contained in the chapters is consistent with the Style guide and the Tax Office Standard for Citations and References.

The roles and responsibilities of the Policy co-ordinator

19. The role of the Policy co-ordinator is to ensure the efficient and effective updating of the Policy. The Policy co-ordinator is responsible for managing the half yearly review process, as well as ensuring the appropriate approval processes have been followed for each chapter update. The Policy co-ordinator also has responsibility for maintaining a register of chapters including status and ensuring the appropriate archival of chapters.

The roles and responsibilities of technical reviewers

20. The primary role of the technical reviewers is to review the information contained in the chapter to ensure that it is technically correct.
21. The technical reviewer can also suggest changes to formatting and language to improve the readability of the document. However, suggested formatting and language changes are not mandatory changes that are required to be made before technical clearance is obtained.

The roles and responsibilities of cross line representatives

22. Cross line representatives co-ordinate, review and provide policy clearance of chapters within agreed timeframes. Cross line representatives are only responsible for clearing information which impacts on their business line.

The roles and responsibilities of editorial reviewers

23. The tax officers who provide editorial clearance must ensure the content of a chapter aligns with the agreed tone and language for the policy document and is consistent with the Style guide and the Tax Office Standard for Citations and References.

Types of changes

24. The approval process that will be followed for each change depends on the type of change being made. A change to a chapter can either be a minor or a significant change.
25. A minor change is considered to be a change to formatting, language, grammar or spelling or correction of typographical errors. Minor changes also include changes to wording that do not affect the substance of the document.
26. A significant change is a new policy, a change to an existing policy, or a change that is not a minor change.

Approval process

27. The approval process followed will be dependant upon whether the change made is either a minor or significant change.
28. For both minor and significant changes, sign off is required at the Director level.
29. For a significant change the following clearance will be required:
 - Editorial clearance
 - Technical clearance from the area within the business line responsible for providing technical advice.
 - Cross line policy clearance from Excise, GST, Micro Enterprises and Individuals, Superannuation, Small and Medium Enterprises, Large Business and Internationals, Law and Practice, Tax Practitioner and Lodgment Strategy (TPALS), and Debt and Client Accounting Services (CAS).
 - Final technical clearance is to be provided by Law and Practice.¹
 - One or more of the following: Deputy Commissioner Debt; Deputy Commissioner CAS and/or Deputy Commissioner TPALS.

New chapters

30. Where it is identified that a new chapter should be included in the Policy a request, along with supporting documentation should be sent to the Policy Mailbox for consideration.
31. As prescribed in paragraph 7 of this practice statement Tax Office staff should adhere to the escalation process applicable to their business line when requesting a new chapter be incorporated into the Policy.

¹ This will usually be the relevant Centres of Expertise. If a matter needs to be escalated it should be escalated to the Chief Tax Counsel.
